C. AGENDA

Mr. Rozansky stated that there was one change to the agenda. Under D. Discussion Item, Item 1.a., he announced that the first presenter, BSSW Architects, withdrew their response from consideration and as a result, PGAL will present first and SchenkelShulz second.

D. DISCUSSION ITEMS

Mr. Rozansky provided introductory comments and stated that the Committee will hear the presentations which includes a time allotment for questions and answers. After both presentations, staff will ask the Committee to make a recommendation on the rankings for the full Board’s consideration.

1. Interviews and Ranking of Responses to General Aviation Terminal (GAT) Improvement Program Request for Qualifications

   a. PGAL, Inc.

Chair Lenhard welcomed Mr. Ian Nestler, Principal/Lead Designer; Mr. Jim Vallejo, Senior Project Manager of PGAL, Inc.; and Mr. Blake Swafford of Hanson Professional Services, who will be managing the mechanical, electrical and plumbing engineering (MEP) portion of the project. Chair Lenhard reminded them that the meeting was being recorded and would be available to watch on the flynaples.com website. Mr. Nestler provided a brief introduction of their firm and recent and relevant experience at other airports. Mr. Vallejo reviewed the project process, parameters and key strategies to deliver a successful project, quality control measures, recommended floor plans of the first and second floors, current GAT assessment and various options for consideration based on the guidelines provided to them. Mr. Nestler presented parking garage options in lieu of an airside canopy and displayed conceptual building views. Mr. Swafford provided MEP considerations. A question and answer period followed.

   b. SchenkelShulz Architecture

Chair Lenhard welcomed Mr. Craig Hanson, Project Manager/Aviation Design Principal and Mr. Gary Krueger, Partner-in-Charge/Construction Admin of SchenkelShulz and Mr. Mohsen Mohammadi, Civil Engineering Principal of American Infrastructure Development, Inc. the meeting was being recorded and would be available to watch on the flynaples.com website. Mr. Hanson presented an overview of their firm. Each of the design team members introduced themselves. Mr. Hanson, Mr. Mohammadi and Mr. Krueger provided a review of several relevant general aviation terminal projects that they have worked on, including the Authority’s GAT project under the Master Plan Study Update and the project approach they would use during the discovery and design phases. Mr. Krueger provided an overview of their approach during the construction phase. A question and answer period followed.

Chair Lenhard opened the discussion to evaluate the firms and requested Commissioner Rideoutte to provide his comments and rankings. Commissioner Rideoutte felt that both firms would do a good job, but he felt SchenkelShulz’s presentation was better. Vice Chair Lenhard agreed and added that SchenkelShulz had a little more general aviation experience and a closer understanding of our current situation and needs. Mr. Rozansky said that SchenkelShulz presented an excellent combination of new and renovation expansion experience so they understand holistically the questions we need to ask. He added that it was interesting with PGAL’s presentation when asked about the three most important factors, their first response was aesthetics. Mr. Rozansky stated that in our experience, the most important factor is that the passengers want to get out to the aircraft quickly without impediment. There was discussion regarding the costliness and necessity of the porte-cochère and the requirement to comply with all current building codes if the proposed improvements exceed 50% of the replacement value of the facility. Following the discussion, Chair Lenhard and Commissioner Rideoutte unanimously agreed to rank the firms as follows and to recommend the rankings to the full Board at the December 20th Regular Board Meeting:

(1) SchenkelShulz Architecture
(2) PGAL, Inc.
